Forecast for Thursday 13 Oct 2022

Weather: A clear overnight period but feeling cold. A dry start to the day but cloud will begin to increase from the west through the early morning period. Rain will spread across from the west by afternoon but likely to be showery, some hills further east may remain completely dry until late afternoon. Rain and cloud clearing in the evening with a dry late evening expected.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 700m: 90% falling to 70% associated with showery rain.

Low cloud and visibility: Good visibility in the morning with good views likely. Lower cloud will form around the showery rain, likely to be quite patchy with layers above 600m. Visibility will fall poor in any moderate or heavy outbreaks of rain but this should be temporary.
